Aboriginal Women & Children's Crisis Service Outreach Program

Offering Community Outreach in the Inner West

Aboriginal Women & Children's Crisis Service

The Service supports Aboriginal women and children who are escaping Domestic or Family Violence.

We work with Aboriginal women with dependent children to educate and empower them.

We believe all women and children have the right to feel secure and safe within their own home.

The Outreach Worker works closely with families to enrich their future goals and break the cycle of Domestic Violence.

AWCCS Outreach Service

The Aboriginal Women & Children's Crisis Service offers an Outreach Service in the wider community for Aboriginal women. We are able to provide you with support and information on a range of issues including:

Domestic Violence

Housing

The Legal System

Health Care

Referral for financial assistance

Case management

Referral to Crisis Accommodation if required

What is our Outreach program?

Our Outreach Support Service is a support service based in the community to offer support and information to women who are experiencing or have experienced Domestic or Family Violence. The Outreach worker also provides community outreach at various hubs in the Inner West.

The Outreach Worker will assist and support you in many different ways, such as help with Legal and Housing issues, Referral and Advocacy and connect you to a wide variety of groups or other culturally appropriate services where possible.
